1 Introduction

As part of the trust's statutory and corporate functions, we process special category data and criminal offence data in accordance with the requirements of Article 9 and 10 of the General Data Protection Regulation ('UK GDPR') and Schedule 1 of the Data Protection Act 2018 ('DPA 2018').

Special category data is defined at Article 9 of the UK GDPR as personal data revealing:

- Racial or ethnic origin
- Political opinions
- Religious or philosophical beliefs
- Trade union membership
- Genetic data
- Biometric data (where used for identification purposes)
- Data concerning physical or mental health, or
- Data concerning a natural person's sex life or sexual orientation.

In addition, we treat Pupil Premium/Free School Meal Status as if it is Special Category data as recommended by the Department of Education as we recognize that data subjects expect this information to be particularly private.

Article 10 of the UK GDPR covers processing in relation to criminal convictions and offences. This includes personal data relating to the alleged commission of offences or proceedings for an offence committed or alleged to have been committed, including sentencing. This is collectively referred to as 'criminal offence data'.

Some of the legal conditions for processing special category and criminal offence data require us to have an Appropriate Policy Document ('APD') in place, setting out and explaining our procedures for securing compliance with the data protection principles and to have policies regarding the retention and erasure of such personal data.

This document satisfies that requirements of Schedule 1, Part 4 of the DPA 2018 and explains our processing of special category and criminal offence data.

In addition, it provides some further information about our processing of special category and criminal offence data where a policy document isn't a specific requirement. The information supplements our privacy notices (which are available on our website).

2 Conditions for processing special category and criminal offence data

2.1. We process special categories of personal data under the following UK GDPR Articles:

- Article 9(2)(a) – the data subject has given explicit consent to the processing (when none of the other lawful basis apply.)

When we seek consent, we make sure that the consent is unambiguous and for one or more specified purposes, is given by an affirmative action and is recorded as the condition for processing. Examples of our processing that require consent include pupil and staff dietary requirements or consent for pupil pastoral support.

- Article 9(2)(b) – processing is necessary in the field of employment law.

An example of this processing includes staff sickness absences.

- Article 9(2)(c) - processing is necessary to protect the vital interests of the data subject or of another natural person.

An example of this would be using health information about a member of staff in a medical emergency.

- Article 9(2)(f) – for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.

Examples of our processing include processing relating to any employment tribunal or other litigation.

- Article 9(2)(g) - reasons of substantial public interest.

The trust is a public authority. Our role includes the education and safeguarding of pupils. Our processing of personal data in this context is necessary for the carrying out of our role. An example of our processing includes processing pupil health information in order to ensure pupils receive appropriate education taking into account any additional health needs they have.

- Article 9(2)(h)- necessary to assess the working capacity of the employee.

An example of this would be the provision of occupational health services to our employees.

- Article 9(2)(j) – for archiving purposes in the public interest.

An example of this is that some of our schools maintain a school archive of photos and significant school/trust events for historical purposes.

2.2 We process criminal offence data under Article 10 of the GDPR.

Examples of our processing of criminal offence data include pre-employment checks and declarations by an employee in line with contractual obligations or being informed about a parent's criminal convictions where that may affect the safeguarding or wellbeing of relevant pupils. We also process CCTV data which may include footage of alleged criminal offence data. We process this under the Data Protection Act 2018 Schedule 1, Part 2 subsection 10 and Part 3 subsection 36 (substantial public interest in relation to any criminal category data). The list of schools that use CCTV is listed in our CCTV policy which is available on the Trust website here.

3 Processing which requires an Appropriate Policy Document (“APD”)

Almost all processing of special categories of data for purposes of the substantial public interest, plus processing of special categories of data for purposes of employment law, social security law and social protection law, require an APD-

3.3 Procedures for ensuring compliance with the principles

Accountability principle

We have put in place appropriate technical and organisational measures to meet the requirements of accountability. These include:

- The appointment of a Data Protection Officer who reports directly to our highest management level.
- Taking a 'data protection by design and default' approach to our activities.
- Maintaining documentation of our data processing activities.
- Adopting and implementing data protection policies and ensuring we have appropriate written contracts in place with our data processors.
- Implementing appropriate security measures in relation to the personal data we process.
- Carrying out data protection impact assessments for our high-risk processing.

We regularly review our accountability measures and update or amend them when required.

Principle (a): lawfulness, fairness and transparency

Processing personal data must be lawful, fair and transparent. It is only lawful if and to the extent it is based on law and either the data subject has given their consent for the processing, or the processing meets at least one of the conditions in Schedule 1 of the DPA 2018.

We provide clear and transparent information about why we process personal data including our lawful basis for processing in our privacy notices, in our Data Protection Policy and this policy document.

Our processing for purposes of substantial public interest is necessary for the exercise of the functions conferred on trust by the legislation referred to in our main Data Protection Policy document.

Our processing for the purposes of employment relates to our obligations as an employer.

Principle (b): purpose limitation

We are authorised by law to process personal data for these purposes. We may process personal data collected for any one of these purposes (whether by us or another controller), for any of the other purposes here, providing the processing is necessary and proportionate to that purpose.

If we are sharing data with another controller, we will document that they are authorised by law to process the data for their purpose.

We will not process personal data for purposes incompatible with the original purpose it was collected for.

Principle (c): data minimisation

We collect personal data necessary for the relevant purposes and ensure it is not excessive. The information we process is necessary for and proportionate to our purposes. Where personal data is provided to us or obtained by us, but is not relevant to our stated purposes, we will erase it.

Principle (d): accuracy

Where we become aware that personal data is inaccurate or out of date, having regard to the purpose for which it is being processed, we will take every reasonable step to ensure that data is erased or rectified without delay. If we decide not to either erase or rectify it, for example because the lawful basis we rely on to process the data means these rights don't apply, we will document our decision.

Principle (e): storage limitation

All special category data processed by us for the purpose of employment or substantial public interest is, unless retained longer for archiving purposes, retained for the periods set out in our Retention Schedule. We determine the retention period for this data based on our legal obligations and the necessity of its retention for our business needs. Our retention schedule is reviewed regularly and updated when necessary.

Principle (f): integrity and confidentiality (security)

Electronic information is processed within our secure network. Hard copy information is processed in line with our security procedures. Our electronic systems and physical storage have appropriate access controls applied. The systems we use to process personal data allow us to erase or update personal data at any point in time where appropriate.

4 APD review date

This policy will be retained for the duration of our processing and for a minimum of 6 months after processing ceases.

This policy will be reviewed in line with our Data Protection Policy or as necessary.
